California Dairy Princess Program

The California Dairy Princess Program has been in effect for many years as part of the CMAB communications effort. This program provides an opportunity for young women to represent the dairy industry in their district and across the state.

Over the years, the program has built a favorable public image for milk and dairy products through Dairy Princess appearances at industry and agricultural functions, school groups and with the media. Each Dairy Princess also participates in a training and orientation week held July 10-12 2017, in Turlock, CA. Local district contests are held from April through June. The program is sponsored by California dairy families through the CMAB.

The Dairy Princess and Alternates acceptable lifestyles are very important. There will be no drinking of alcoholic products, no drugs, no profanity, and no cohabitation with a boyfriend. The Dairy Princess and her Alternates are representing the dairy industry and must portray a fresh, wholesome appearance.

If selected as District Dairy Princess or Alternate, I agree to attend the CMAB Dairy Princess Training Week, July 10-12, 2017 in Turlock, CA.

I have read and understand the above statement about the California Dairy Princess program and I agree:

Dairy Princess Selection Process

Candidates are first screened and deemed eligible from entry forms submitted to the CMAB. In all cases, decisions on eligibility made by the CMAB will be final. Application forms should contain all pertinent personal information. Each candidate will be notified as to whether or not she has been accepted. Detailed information about contest date and location of the district contest will be furnished to candidates accepted by the CMAB.

At each contest, candidates are evaluated by a panel of three judges. Judges interview each candidate individually, scoring her in the following categories:

- Desire to be a Dairy Princess
- Knowledge of the California dairy industry
- Public Speaking and Communication Skills
- Genuineness, Enthusiasm and Energy
- Ability to Meet and Converse with People
- Educational Background
- Future Plans
- Personal Appearance
- Social Graces and Maturity
- Adaptability

I have read and understand the above statement about the Dairy Princess selection process and I agree:

Job Requirements for Dairy Princess and Alternates

The Dairy Princess must be available for appearances throughout her reign, including weekend and holiday events. If selected as Dairy Princess, your role is to serve as the lead representative in your district when an event is scheduled. Your role as a Dairy Princess or Alternate for your district means that you are a representative of the California dairy industry and CMAB. The CMAB will reimburse mileage to Dairy Princesses and Alternates for events within their district. If selected, you will be asked to treat this responsibility as a job and be required to act in a professional manner during the process of setting up the event to attendance and follow up. By agreeing to participate in the District Dairy Princess program, you are agreeing to the requirements of attending all activities and events you are invited to participate in throughout the district. When making public appearances with crown and sash, you will be required to consume milk and dairy products. Please reference district participation agreement for specific requirements.

I have read and understand the above statement about the job requirements for the Dairy Princess and Alternates and I agree:

Initials

Orientation and Pre-Contest Events

Each district will conduct an orientation prior the Dairy Princess contest. Your attendance at orientation is mandatory. In some districts, pre-contest events are part of the application process for contestants. Please see district participation agreement for specific dates and events. If not listed, the information will be provided in a letter to you upon your application acceptance. The dress code for orientation and pre-contest events is a street-length dress (no shorter than 1" above the knee).

I have read and understand the above statement about the orientation and pre-contest events and I agree:

Initials

Interview and Judging Process

Each candidate will have a one-on-one interview with a panel of three judges, either the day of the contest or another day prior to the contest. Dates and detailed information will be provided to you once your application has been accepted. You will be judged on your knowledge of the California dairy industry, your desire to be dairy princess in your district, ability to speak about yourself and the industry in a positive manner. In addition, you will be required to do a two to three minute impromptu presentation during your interview. The topic for the impromptu presentation will be provided to all contestants three days prior to the scheduled interview date.

The dress code for the contest interview is business attire – dress with jacket or skirt and blouse (dress/skirt no shorter than 1" above the knee).

I have read the above statement about the Dairy Princess interview and judging process and I agree:

Initials

Contest/Coronation

On the day of the contest you will be interviewed in front of a group of dairy families and industry members with the intent for the judges to see how well you speak in front of an audience and your knowledge of the California dairy industry.

Selection of District Dairy Princess and Alternates will be completed by a panel of judges. The judges will base their decision on your one-on-one interview and your onstage presence and presentation.

All attire for day of contest must be reviewed and approved by the district committee at the orientation. There will be no exceptions to these rules. If attire is not appropriate, you will be asked to select more appropriate clothing. The judges will base some of their decision on your choice of clothing. If there is ever a question in your mind if an outfit is appropriate, always be cautious and default to modesty.

If selected as District Dairy Princess, you will also be required to dress in a professional manner. For all appearances your attire must be clean, including your crown and sash. You are required to wear your crown and sash at every event you attend on behalf of the District Dairy Princess program.

I have read the above statement about the Dairy Princess contest/ coronation and I agree:

Dress Code for Evening Gown at Contest/ Coronation

- Your gown must be ankle-length or floor-length. Choose from a ball gown to a sheath style dress. Avoid overly form fitting gowns that appear sexy. Back, front and side slits up to the top of your knees allowed. Any dresses with slits higher than top of your knee are unacceptable.
- No short cocktail dresses are allowed or those with a high-low hemline.
- No see-through garments.
- Bare midriffs and side-body cut-outs are unacceptable.
- Modesty is best. Your gown can have two shoulder straps, one shoulder strap or two off-the-shoulder straps. Halter style, spaghetti straps, tank or sweetheart necklines and strapless gowns are also acceptable as long as cleavage is not visible, no plunging V-necks and the proper undergarments are utilized.
- The back of your gown must cover your back from your waist up to your bra band. Plunging backless gowns are unacceptable.
- Comfortable dress shoes that you can wear for an extended amount of time are best. Dressy flats or 1-3 inch heels or wedges are acceptable. No heels over 3 inches.
- No flip flops, beach style sandals, athletic or Converse style shoes are allowed with your coronation dress.
- All gowns must be approved by the district committee chair in person or a photo of you wearing the gown, both front and back views.
- Your evening gown at the contest/ coronation will be the gown for your official Dairy Princess headshots.

I have read and understand the above statement on dress code for evening gown and I agree:

Initials

If selected as a Dairy Princess or Alternate, CMAB dress code for all appearances is as follows:

- A street length dress or blouse/skirt combination.
- A career suit – dress or skirt/blouse with jacket
- Sleeveless dress as long as the straps on the dress are at least 2" wide
- Dress/skirts no shorter than 1" above knee
- CMAB specific events will have a strict dress code (black dress skirt and CMAB shirt) and must be adhered to in order to participate – i.e. California State Fair, World Ag Expo, and any other activities where Dairy Princesses and Alternates are invited to attend on behalf of CMAB.

Please remember to dress in a modest manner when representing the CMAB and the California dairy industry. If you show up to an event dressed inappropriately, you will be asked to change your clothing or sent home from the event. If you are unsure about your clothing selection it is always best to clear with your district chairperson.

I have read and understand the above statement on Dairy Princess dress code and I agree:

Social Media

If you choose to run for Dairy Princess and are crowned, remember that you are the Dairy Princess for an entire year-whether on an official appearance or in your private capacity-you will be expected to act appropriately.

The application process requires you to provide CMAB with your social media pages/urls. The CMAB, District Dairy Princess committee and judges may review your social media pages to ensure that the image you portray on your personal pages are in sync with the wholesome image of the California Dairy Princess program. Your name and photo will be in local media as a contestant and the community will be visiting your pages to find out more about you. We recommend you review your social media pages carefully if you decide to participate as a candidate in the program.

Each candidate for Dairy Princess must realize that your activities, your actions and the actions of your peers are being observed by the local community. If you have a public Facebook page, LinkedIn site, Twitter, Snapchat or Instagram page, please think twice before you decide what pictures are posted. We want the candidates to portray a wholesome image for the dairy industry.

You must always be professional in your dress, your demeanor, and your presentation even when your activities are not directly associated with the Dairy Princess program. Keep in mind when you are in the public eye, you should always act professional. If selected as Dairy Princess or Alternate, you will be a representative of CMAB and the California dairy industry and your social media pages are a reflection of you and the organizations you represent.

I have read and understand the above statement on social media and I agree:

Initials

Scholarships

The CMAB will award scholarships to the individuals selected as Dairy Princess and Alternate. A portion of the scholarship will be awarded after crowning and a final payment will be provided at the end of her reign. A list of activities will need to be submitted to the District Dairy Princess Chairperson and CMAB one week prior to end of reign in order to receive the final scholarship balance. The Dairy Princess Committee will decide if full payment will be disbursed based on participation of activities.

I have read and understand the above statement on scholarships as a Dairy Princess and I agree:

The CMAB sets forth specific guidelines for the California Dairy Princess Program, and in addition, the District 7 Dairy Princess Committee further requires the persons selected to serve as Dairy Princess and Alternate abide by the district rules and guidelines established by the committee.

The Dairy Princess and Alternate are expected to comply with the duties required of the title as outlined in the contestant handbook and the district activities listed on the District 7 Appearance Schedule, but are not limited to:

1. CMAB Dairy Princess Training Week –July 10-12, 2017 in Turlock, CA;
2. Industry and Community events – The Dairy Princess and Alternate are required to attend 90% of activities listed on the Appearance Schedule in order for monies to be distributed;
3. School visits – The Dairy Princess and Alternate are required to schedule at least 10 classroom visits throughout her reign and prepare a presentation to be used; the presentation should be reviewed by the Chairperson or Committee Member;
4. The events listed on the District 7 tentative appearance schedule in Bold are MANDATORY and MUST be attended by both the Dairy Princess and Alternate;
5. All events must be approved and cleared by the District Committee Chairperson or in the absence of the Chairperson, a Committee Member; all appropriate CMAB Official Appearance forms must be completed and returned to the CMAB prior to any appearance;
6. A complete list of activities attended must be provided to the district on a quarterly basis, upon request;
7. The Dairy Princess and Alternate must represent the district in a professional manner, including no alcohol, drug and profanity at any appearance;
8. Abide by the district dress code that is provided to you.

If the Dairy Princess/Alternate fails to attend mandatory events or abide by the dress code, the District 7 Dairy Princess Committee will review disciplinary action and a warning will be issued. If the Dairy Princess/Alternate is unable to attend any event, she must notify the District Committee Chairperson in advance. CMAB will only provide consultation to the District Dairy Princess Committee if the Dairy Princess/Alternate acts in a manner that misrepresents a wholesome image for the program.

I understand that if selected to serve as District 7 Dairy Princess or Alternate I will comply with the rules and guidelines outlined by the committee. I will represent the California dairy industry in a positive way by acting and dressing in a professional manner and drinking milk and consuming dairy products at every event.
